C. Determination of Airline Mileage

1. Rates are based on the airline distance between the measuring point or rate center for the calling point and the measuring point or rate center for the called point. Generally, each city, town, or locality is designated as a rate center and those localities not so designated are assigned a nearby rate center.
2. The airline mileage between rate centers is determined by applying the formula below to the vertical and horizontal coordinates associated with the rate centers involved. The Company uses the rate centers produced by Bell Communications and Research in the NPA-NXX V&H Coordinates tape and published in NECA Tariff No. 4.

Formula:

The square root of:
$$\frac{(V1 - V2)^2 + (H1 - H2)^2}{10}$$

3. Rates for Intrastate MTS Service are not distance sensitive except that:
 - No charge applies for calls within the same county, and
 - No charge applies where the calculated airline distance between the originating and terminating rates centers is 22 miles or less.

D. Determination of Rates

1. The rates for MTS calls are determined by the:
 - Class of call
 - Duration of call
 - Distance between stations
2. The total amount of the call will be rounded to the nearest cent if the computed rate of the call results in a fractional charge.
